

2007 IOTA SIGMA PI
GLADYS ANDERSON EMERSON SCHOLARSHIP

Taralyn Tan, Oregon State University

Taralyn Tan is excellent student with a clear goal of what she wants to do after graduation. She combines a very high level of writing ability with an amazing ability to speak. She is making significant headway in her research identifying molecular causes of sexual preference in sheep. She has the drive and the leadership qualities that we are looking for in ISP, as exemplified by her founding a new sorority for women in science, being the Editor of the OSU student scientific journal, volunteering in the Science and Math Investigative Learning Experience, and being an ambassador for the College of Science. These activities show that she could be a future leader.
